Packed with features, this pool design makes the most of limited space

This pool, built by the team at Pools By Design, was constructed for Chris Clout, one of Australia's leading residential designers. As it is a compact area with limited access, Chris designed a stylish pool with a little bit of everything.

When Chris first approached Gary Gaffney and Richard Fogarty of Pools By Design regarding construction of his own pool, the initial design called for a simple pool with steps and a water feature. By the end of the planning and design process, they had a unique and eye-catching swimming pool with inset glass spa, multiple water features, in-pool steps and underwater multi-coloured LED lighting.

"My view of a good design is to listen to what the client is after, not what you want them to have," says Richard Fogarty of Pools By Design. "This project is one of many pools that we do and it all comes down to making sure you communicate with the client every step of the way with their design."

Five staggered steps lead into the elevated spa and there are four water features that are beautifully lit at night. The glass-fronted spa spills water over into the pool, and a bamboo water feature spills into the spa.

The pool glass was supplied by Pool Windows. As with all Pools By Design swimming pools, Hurlcon equipment was used for all the chlorinators, pumps, filters and heating. Pools by Design chooses Hurlcon because it is one of the top brands and the people at the distributor, Astral, supply great service to pool builders and superior after-service to clients.

Pools By Design was started by Richard Fogarty and Gary Gaffney. With their many years of experience, they construct around 100-150 pools per year throughout Queensland.

Pools By Design specialises in concrete pools with a focus on creating truly unique designs.

The pool gives this small backyard the impression of being significantly larger and is a showcase for lovely lighting, soothing water features, great ideas and good design. It proves the pool doesn't have to be big to be great.
